

Translations from the poetry of J. Skácel and O. Mikulášek, Universum II. and IV. (Prague, n. d.).
Selections from Czech prose fiction and poetry in: Panorama of Czech Literature, Nos. 1–5 (Prague, 1980–1983).
Dionýz Ďurišin: Theory of Literary Comparatistics, 334 pp. (Bratislava, 1984).
Janáček and Hukvaldy. A publication in five languages (Brno, 1984).
Michal Černík: “A Good Forecast”, “Living a Pebble’s Life”, University of Edinburgh Journal 31.27–8, December 1984.

Other Literary Activity

The Prologue in verse to Thomas Dekker’s play The Shoemaker’s Holiday. Awarded the prize of Unity Theatre and delivered at the first night of this play in London, 1954.
A Fantasia on Four Picture Postcards (poems), Saltire Review of Arts, Letters and Life 6, No. 23, Winter 1961, Edinburgh.

Co-operation with Czechoslovak Radio

Sv. Čech: The Journey of Mr. Beetle Back to the 15th Century (Výlet pana Broučka do XV. století). Translation; broadcast in November and December, 1960.
Notes on UNESCO and other cultural anniversaries in the years 1955–1962.

Compiled by Lidmila Pantůčková

JESSIE KOČMANOVÁ

We have to announce with deep regret that while this tribute was in the press, Associate Professor Jessie Kocmanová died (on 19 December 1985). Her sudden and unexpected departure is a painful loss to all those who respected and loved her as a friend, as well as to her department, her University, and English and American studies in general to the promotion of which she contributed so substantially.

Lidmila Pantůčková